

Summary

In 2003 the article "Mills found on Gable Stones" was published in Molinologie 20. I received many fine and enthusiastic reactions about this publication. Since then twelve new gable stones have been collected which brings the number up to a total of 182. Most gable stones indicate post mills (49), then gallery mills (46), groundsailer (29), horse mills (17) and (10) with a general subject. When mill parts are used with the stones, stone spindles are used mostly. I am grateful to all the people from whom I have received new gable stone locations. Please send me new locations
